

Coriendo Awarded Multi-Year Contract to Maintain and Sustain Healthcare Information System at Tripler Army Medical Center in Honolulu, Hawaii

Bala Cynwyd, PA – November 7, 2012 -- Coriendo, LLC has recently been awarded a two-year contract in the amount of $958,684 to provide maintenance and sustainment of a business process management based solution for the Pacific Health Care Collaborative, a joint venture of the Veterans Affairs Pacific Islands Health Care System and the Tripler Army Medical Center, located in Honolulu, HI. The contract, which is a follow on to previous contracts that began in August, 2006, has a base year that runs through September, 2013, and an option year that runs through September 2014.

The scope of the contract is to provide maintenance and support services for a system referred to at Tripler as the “e-DR System”. The System consists of modules that provide for patient referrals, document management, a charge master-based billing system, and an analytics component. The System eliminates the use of paper files as the means for exchanging information back and forth between the Department of Veterans Affairs systems and Department of Defense systems.

A significant aspect of the System is Coriendo’s use of a Business Process Management Suite of software tools called Enj that enabled Coriendo to develop the system without the need to write computer code. This resulted in reduced development time, lower cost, and the ease of making modifications to the system as needed in the future.
